

He extends his hand to Nicky, then Erin -- who's more than a little intrigued by this handsome stranger.

10 INT. BASKETBALL COURTS - DAY

Henry surveys the place with the FACILITIES MANAGER.

HENRY

(giving instructions)

Concessions there. Police Sports Foundation table across the way. Reserve that section for deep pockets. Maybe seats near the cheerleaders will get them in the giving spirit...

(looks down)

These lines here, let's get them freshened up, okay?

The Manager nods and moves off. And RICK KENNAIR (60s) approaches.

RICK

Henry, you still bossing people around?

HENRY

(smiles)

Have to leave the house to find someone who listens to me.

(then)

I haven't seen you at Foundation events lately.

RICK

I had to cut back on my good deeds. Went back to work.

HENRY

They re-hiring washed-up cops? Where do I stand in line?

RICK

Aren't you busy enough? The Foundation, other charities, all that quality time with your family...?

Rick studies Henry's reaction --

HENRY

Oh yeah, it's great.

RICK

That's what Al Ramsay said, but he's come back to work, too.

HENRY

I thought he retired to Pompano Beach.

RICK

Developed a sun allergy. Listen... the outfit's called Citadel Incorporated. Private security consultants. The people who run it value experience.

HENRY

I'm not really looking --

RICK

Don't shortchange yourself. Plenty of people out there to help besides your family.

He hands over a gold leaf-embossed business card.

RICK (CONT'D)

Just drop on by.

Off Henry --

INT. COMPUTER CRIMES UNIT - DAY

END

As Danny and Jackie watch, a COMPUTER TECHSM (male, 30s) works a computer until --

COMPUTER TECH

Okay, we're in. Your Jane Doe's log-in is Snazzy-Gal. Looks like her real name's Stacy Friedman.

What he finds is visible on a LARGE SCREEN.

JACKIE

Tell me the truth. You hack your girlfriend's e-mails and she has no idea, right?

COMPUTER TECH

(deadpan)

Never.

In marked contrast to Frank's solemn petitioners, we drop in on the smiling faces of Citadel Incorporated President FRANK ROCKWELL and Rick Kennair greeting Henry, who's wearing a suit and tie for the occasion.

ROCKWELL

It's an honor, Commissioner. Your reputation precedes you.

HENRY

~~Been quite a few years since I've been the commissioner.~~

ROCKWELL

~~You helped turn this into a~~
~~People haven't forgotten.~~ Has Rick here filled you in on what we do?

HENRY

Some.

RICK

Enough to reel him in from Brooklyn.

HENRY

R train. No problem.

RICK

(to Rockwell)

He rode it to and from work when he was P.C.

HENRY

Boots on the ground, there's no substitute.

Rockwell smiles in appreciation. Then --

ROCKWELL

Rick tells me you might be open to a consulting position.

HENRY

Consulting with whom about what?

ROCKWELL

We have commercial clients we provide security services for -- employee vetting, anti-shrinkage, corporate counter-espionage.

ROCKWELL (CONT'D)

We're training police forces in three Caribbean countries and Eastern Europe. We're launching a bodyguard division and kidnap victim retrieval.

RICK

Twenty-first century policing, Henry.

HENRY

You may not have noticed -- I'm kind of a twentieth-century guy.

ROCKWELL

With four decades' experience. We know about you. If there's anything else you want to know about us, just ask.

Off Henry --

INT. SQUAD - DAY

Danny and Jackie, at odds.

JACKIE

It's a done deal, Reagan. Cleared with the lieutenant and SVU. My face goes up on Kiss-the-Apple tonight.

DANNY

Turning yourself into live bait? That's above and beyond, Jack.

She points to the photos of the murdered women.

JACKIE

Look at them. Look at me. At last I'm somebody's type.

(beat)

Too bad he's a serial killer.

DANNY

You don't have to do this.

JACKIE

I don't have to be a cop either. I could've been an actress or a graphic designer.
